GLACIER PARK II Artists of Residence

October 24 through December 28, 2002

Opening Reception Thursday, October 24, 5:30 - 7:30 p.m.

For the past five years, Glacier National Park has offered an artist in residency program. Each artist that participated in this program donated a painting to the Park upon completion of the program. Now for the first time, these beautiful landscapes will be available for viewing at the Hockaday Museum's opening of Glacier Park II: Artists of Residence. The exceptional artwork of Joe Abbrescia,

Clouds on The Sun, by Betty Jean Billups, oil on board

Josh Elliott, Betty Jean Billups, Haakon Ensign, Tom English, and over 30 other artists from around the country will be on display during this 8 week show. The Hockaday is very pleased to have the opportunity to present these fine works for public display for the first time.

Hockaday Museum of Art Presents the first annual MEMBERS ONLY! Art Exhibition October 24 - December 28, 2002

Karen Leigh, The Last Rest Place, watercolor

The Hockaday is very excited to present an art exhibition comprised of works from our member artists! The Museum boasts an outstanding membership list of artists and this exhibit is sure to be an incredible array of works. The response has been very positive. Over 40 artists will be represented in this show, filling two galleries with works of art in every medium.

2002 has been an incredible year for the Hockaday Museum of Art. Everything from the building renovations to the major summer show, The Call of the Mountains, The Artists of Glacier National Park has been a tremendous success. The response we have received from this show demonstrates the public's interest in the incredibly rich art history of our area. You have until October 12 to experience this wonderful exhibit or to revisit it.

The Call of the Mountains proved that we need to develop our permanent collection to include the works of the many great artists who have painted Glacier National Park early in its history and the great artists that are continuing to paint it today. Our close proximity to the Glacier region makes it a natural focus for such a collection, and no other museum in Montana has covered this area of art history as extensively as the Hockaday has in The Call of the Mountains.

Those of you who attended our lectures held in conjunction with the summer exhibits witnessed the need for a lecture hall in our Museum. We borrowed space across the street from Central Christian Church to accommodate the one hundred plus who attended author Larry Len Peterson's inspiring lecture and book signing.

We realize that we are facing growth challenges as we plan our 2003 exhibit and education programs. We are rapidly outgrowing our space. The future will require an additional classroom, a lecture auditorium, a permanent collection gallery, and an adequate and environmentally controlled permanent collection storage room.

2003 marks the 35th anniversary year of the Hockaday Museum of Art and the 100th anniversary year of our home, the Carnegie Library Building. 2003 is the perfect year for a commitment to growth and expansion!

We are excited about our major show for the summer of 2003, Flathead Collects American Art, 1850 – 1950. Works for this show will be on loan from art collectors throughout our Valley and will provide a glimpse into the wonderful collections Flathead Valley art aficionados have acquired over the years. Late summer we will feature a Jeannie Hamilton Retrospective, in celebration and loving memory of this wonderful friend, artist, and teacher.

In the summer of 2004, and to commemorate our centennial year, we will celebrate with a major show, The Artwork of Leonard Lopp along with the Smithsonian touring show The Graceful Envelope which features the work of our local artists Karen Leigh and Gini Ogle among the other U. S. Postal Service artist award winners. We are very interested in locating works by Lopp and Hamilton. If you have paintings or contacts that you would like to share with us for these shows, please call us at the Museum.

Our planned exhibits will help the Museum to build upon the successes of this past year and with your support we can reach new heights and diversity as we grow into the coming years.

~Linda Engh-Grady

Discovery Gallery

We have something wonderful in store for our younger audience, The Discovery Gallery features hands-on activities for your children. During The Call of the Mountains exhibit, children found a tipi furnished with a real buffalo hide in which to explore and pretend, Native American costumes to wear, and wonderful creative activities.

The theme of the Discovery Gallery will change to complement the changing major gallery exhibits. All the activities will help our young art lovers to better understand the exhibits, to encourage them to think creatively about the objects and art on exhibit, and to experience art in their own unique ways. Stay tuned for more exciting things to come in the Discovery Gallery as we grow to serve our younger audience who will ask to come back again and again.

Special thanks to these donors who have helped make The Discovery Gallery possible:

Through October 12:

Final Event of *The Call of The Mountains

Friday Sept. 27 5:30 PM

Special Guest George Ostrom, author and radio celebrity, will present an incredible slide show on the landscape of Glacier National Park, especially those hard to reach, out of the way places!

Members Free. Non-members $5, Seniors $4

Blackfeet Indian Tipis Design & Origin

“Blackfeet Indian Tipi Series” from the Museum’s permanent collection consists of 26 historical serigraphs depicting the many painted designs of the early Blackfeet Tipis.

Educators As Artists

October 24 - December 28

Opening Reception October 24, 5:30 - 7:30 PM

Greek Village, by Sue Supola, watercolor

The Hockaday is pleased to present a forum for "Educators as Artists" in an exhibit of recent works from Flathead Valley educators in all disciplines. This exhibit will showcase the impressive talents of those teachers dedicated to fostering an integrated sense of creativity in our children. Please join us for an opening reception.

That *#@! Milk Can

October 24 - December 28

Opening Reception October 24, 5:30 - 7:30 PM

Milk Can by Chelsey P., 2001, charcoal and pastel

Flathead Valley Community College art students John Rawling's past and present drawing classes offer their views of a favorite subject in the tongue-in-cheek exhibit of "That *#@! Milk Can". The ability to look afresh at everyday objects and circumstances is a hallmark of true artistry. This exhibit portrays one tried-and-true method of developing that talent by elevating the seemingly mundane through the extension of one's concentration.

The foundational ability to draw, whether with draftsman like accuracy or spare calligraphic flourish, allows the artist to take flight in the two-dimensional arts.

A WORD FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

One of the goals of the Hockaday Museum of Art is to develop and maintain a permanent collection of art works that represent the best of historical and contemporary Montana artists as well as those artists who have lived and worked in Montana.

Our permanent collection currently has many pieces that meet this criterion and are on display as a part of the exhibition schedule. However, many fine artists are not as yet represented and it is our hope that gifts from collectors, artists, friends, and purchase funds will help to broaden the collection.

Works of art that are given to the Museum for the permanent collection must first be evaluated by the Permanent Collection Committee and approved by the Board of Trustees, thus assuring that gift items meet the criterion for inclusion in the collection. Works of art that may not find themselves part of the permanent collection are also welcomed and, with the permission of the donor, may be sold or traded for pieces more appropriate to the Hockaday collection.

Since September 2001, the permanent collection has been enriched with five paintings: Walter Hook, Charles Sanderson, Fred Fellows, and Ace Powell; a pastel drawing by Norman Mails; a charcoal drawing by Bud Helbig; a bronze and a wax model by Gary Schildt; two clay models by E. E. Heikka; and a collection of historical stereophotographs of Glacier National Park. We are most grateful to Dr. Van Kirke and Helen Nelson, Norman Hayden, Del Phillips, Dr. Eaner P. Higgins, James L.

"Fall in Montana," by Jeannie Hamilton, oil on canvas, gifted by the family of Jeanne Price Bungay

Udick and Donna Jean Smith for their generosity and we thank them very much. As was reported in our last newsletter, the purchase fund so generously created by the "Hockaday Benefit Auction of Miniatures" made possible the acquisition of the R. E. Pierce oil "Down from the Summit".

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, I would like to thank James Moore and Sue Symons very much for their recent gift of $500 to establish an Acquisition Fund. In addition to pursuing art works to add to our collection, we are planning to develop this fund to include monies for the restoration, conservation and re-framing of works already residing in the collection and that need help.

I would like to thank all of you who have supported our acquisition program and I also hope that this information will encourage more of you to help us build and enrich our permanent collection and our "gift" to the people of the Flathead Valley.

Glacier Park Discovery Day & Auction

The Hockaday Museum would like to extend a very big thank you to Dr. Van Kirke Nelson and Gardner Auction Service for lending their expertise. The Glacier Park Discovery Auction raised over $8,000 for the Hockaday Museum. More than 100 people attended the auction which was filled with wonderful items related to Glacier Park including chairs, photographs, paintings, books, artifacts, furniture and more. Many of the people who bid on items were able to obtain things for a great value while other items were highly bid upon. For those of you who missed it, stay tuned to the "Sketch Pad" for news on the next Glacier Park Discovery Auction!

Cecily McNeil

Cecily is a fourth-generation Bay area (Marin County) native. In 1948, she married a Physics Professor, Edward B. McNeil and together they raised two children on the South side of Chicago. They spent their summers on the North Fork of the Flathead since 1960, and when it came time to retire, it was a natural to retire to Kalispell where they had so many friends. Since they moved here, Cecily has been a volunteer at the Flathead Public Library.

Cecily holds a MFA from the University of Chicago in the History of Chinese Painting. She later taught evening classes in the History of Oriental Art at Triton Community College near Chicago, and, after their move to the Flathead, she taught at FVCC.

She enjoys mending old books and editing a large collection of her family letters dating between 1830 and 1927.

Cecily has been a wonderful asset to the Hockaday Museum. She has volunteered her talents to cataloging our large library of slides. Cataloging photos is not new to her. As a librarian, she cataloged a collection of architectural photos at the University of Illinois in Urbana and did so again at a summer job at the Navy Pier branch of the same university.

Cecily volunteered herself to the Hockaday to work on the slides after James Udick, our Museum archivist, told her about the un-cataloged slide collection. She said it has been interesting work. The variety of subjects in the Hockaday slide collection have been a challenge. She feels strongly that our local artists should have slides of their work archived. The photos of school tours and children's classes have touched her because she realized that the children in a 1979 likeness are now perhaps parents of today's school tour children.

Thank you Cecily for all of your hard work!

Memorials

The Hockaday Museum mourns the passing of Ann R. Lebkicher, one of the Museum's founding members and long-time friend of the Hockaday. The Hockaday extends its deepest sympathy to Ann's family and friends.

David Shaner, renowned ceramicist and former director of the Archie Bray Foundation, and friend of the Hockaday Museum, passed away at his home in Bigfork on July 2, 2002. For more than three decades, potters from across the country attended workshops taught by Shaner and made pilgrimages to his home in Bigfork in order to gain insights into his life's work. Shaner left a lasting mark on the world of ceramics and the Archie Bray Foundation. He will be greatly missed.

The Hockaday sends its condolences to the family and friends of Louis and Jean Bibler. The Biblers were long time friends of the Hockaday Museum and supporters of many causes throughout the Flathead Valley.

What's New In The Off The Wall Gift Gallery:

Featuring: The vibrant work of Kalispell artist Lisa Schaus, whose substantial talent encompasses a wide variety of media, is on exhibit through October. Stunning ceramic pieces by Robert Markle provide a perfect three dimensional compliment to Schaus' paintings and pastels of the Glacier National Park region and the Flathead Valley. (Contact us if you would like to be a featured artist in our gift gallery. Featured artists must be members of the Hockaday Museum.)

Robert Markle

You will find cups, pitchers, jars, decorative wall pieces, and more by Robert Markle.

Lisa Schaus

Off the Wall has cards, prints and original paintings by Lisa Schaus. Above: (left) Rocky Mountain Paintbrush, (right) Return To Winter, prints and cards

The Call of The Mountains
The Artists of Glacier National Park

Available for purchase in the "Off The Wall Gift Gallery."
